NEW PINK DAFFODILS

NOTICE—There is no such thing as a pure pink daffodil. All the new daffodils that are called "pink" and have created such a sensation have white or very pale perianths and cups of varying shades of pink, rose, apricot, and salmon. Many of these flowers do not show the full pink tones until the flower has been open for several days. The following are considered the finest available today.

WARNING—Plant "Pink Daffodils" in semi-shade or protect the flowers when in bloom from hot sun. The true beautiful shades of pink are retained by these methods.

CLASSIFICATION—Most "pink daffodils" are classified under Division 2b.

HARDY LILIES

Sensational New Mid-Century Hybrids (Crosses of L. Tigrinum and L. Umbellatum) (Send for color folder sent out separately.)

These lilies mark a new era in variety and culture. From the hundreds of new varieties the following have been selected, not only for their beauty, but also for their great vigor and endurance under adverse conditions. These lilies are hybrids of L. tigrinum and L. umbellatum. They grow as well, or better, than either the Tiger lilies or the Umbellatums. They are as colorful and spectacular as any lilies grown and are very easy to propagate. One of them, "Enchantment" has been patented and may not be propagated commercially except by special license. A major and sensational advance has been achieved in the production of these hybrids. All of these lilies show bulbils in the axils of the leaves, if the flower or buds are removed early in the season. "Enchantment" will have bulbils even if allowed to flower normally. All of them flower in July. Their blazing colors and their straight stiff stems have made them stand out in their home garden, and their radical departure in form, habit and coloring from anything that has been seen in lilies up to the time these novelties flowered have been noticed by every visitor to their originator's gardens in Oregon. Be the first in your neighborhood to grow these sensational lilies.
